Post-graduate study opportunities to non-service personnel in AMS

*108. SHRI RAJUBHAI A. PARMAR:
SHRIMATI VEENA VERMA:

Will the Minister of DEFENCE be pleased to state:

(a) whether post-graduate study opportunities in Medicine, Surgery, Paediatrics, Orthopaedics and other clinical subjects in Army Medical Service (AMS) are squandered by way of offering them to non-service medical graduates, even when AMS personnel, fully eligible for such post-graduate studies, are available within the service;

(b) if so, how many such opportunities were given to non-service personnel in 1995-96, 1996-97, 1997-98 and 1998-99; and

(c) the reasons therefor?

THE MINISTER OF DEFENCE (SHRI GEORGE FERNANDES): (a) to (c) Post Graduate study opportunities in the Army Medical Corps.(AMC) are available at Armed Forces Medical College, Pune, Research & Referral Hospital, Delhi Cantt. Command Hospital (Air Force), Bangalore and INHS Asvini, Mumbai. All post graduate seats in the Service Institutions are allotted strictly on the basis of merit-cum-choice following a Central PG entrance examination. Service officers who, on study leave, join AFMC Pune, for super specialisation, however, do not have to go through a written test for admission. AMC personnel have prior claim on the PG seats, depending upon the Service requirements. However, PG seats which are not availed of by the Service personnel are offered to other categories like Foreign sponsored candidates, ex-SSC officers and lastly, if any seats remain, to Civilian Doctors. Thus, the opportunities for the Post Graduate studies available to the Army Medical Corps personnel are not squandered.

Details of year-wise allotment of seats which were not required by the AMC and given to non-service personnel are given in the Statement.
